HISTORIC SERIES

THE ALL-SOLID WOOD HISTORIC SERIES PAYS HOMAGE TO THE GOLDEN YEARS OF THE UKULELE. RICH, DARK, HAND FINISHED COLORS UNDERLINE THE VINTAGE LOOK AND FEEL OF A BYGONE ERA.

Every uke is hand-built by master craftsmen to ensure maximum quality. These are professional instruments with deluxe appointments made from premium solid woods with precise attention to detail and incredible sound to match.

Experienced players will instantly appreciate the solid Red Cedar top, paired with a solid mahogany body resulting in an instrument that has a balanced tone with great depth of sound, superb projection and sustain.

Our unique ToneFlow bracing enhances tone by reducing the bracing mass thereby allowing the top to resonate freely whilst still maintaining the same structural integrity as conventional bracing.

A true player's instrument, all Historic Series ukuleles feature sturdy one-piece mahogany necks capped with Amara ebony fingerboards for effortless playability and superb sound. A genuine Amara ebony bridge and natural bone nut & saddle augment the Historic Series' powerful voice, sustain and resonance.

A gorgeous hand finished matt finish, subtle use of abalone inlays and premium solid tonewoods combine with expert hand-craftsmanship to deliver a ukulele that looks as great as it sounds.
